

Saskatchewan
Prairie Conservation
Action Plan

Whose Nest is This?

Introduction / Instructions

- Bird nests come in all shapes and sizes!
- This game has six nests from birds that are “Species at Risk.”
- “Species at Risk” means they aren’t doing well and need our help!
- How can you help? Learning more about these birds is the first step!

Whose Nest is This?

Click on "Helpful Tips" to see the chicks and habitat! To see which bird the nest belongs to, click on "Find the Answers"

Helpful
Tips

Helpful
Tips

Helpful
Tips

Helpful
Tips

Helpful
Tips

Helpful
Tips

This bird borrows an abandoned burrow from a gopher or badger. They love to eat grasshoppers, beetles and mice!

Habitat: native prairie with cattle or bison.

This bird prefers grasses that are not too tall or too short. They like wide open spaces. Look for this bird in native prairie pastures or rangelands.

It takes this bird over a thousand trips to build their nest with mud, grass, or twigs! A family of barn swallows can eat thousands of mosquitoes in a summer!

This bird lives in trees or shrubs near wild grassy areas. They impale their prey (mice, bugs, snakes) on thorny bushes or trees, or barbed wire before they eat their meal.

© David English

This bird lays their eggs on the sandy, gravel area beside ponds, lakes, sloughs or rivers. The hunt for bugs on the beach.

This bird of prey will use a cliff, tree or building to protect their HUGE nest from predators. This species is considered to be “Climate Endangered.” As our climate changes, there will be less habitat available.

Burrowing Owl

Sprague's Pipit

Barn Swallow

Loggerhead Shrike

Piping Plover

Ferruginous Hawk

Image Credits:

Pipit—O. Balas, Pipit nest—S.Vinge, Pipit Habitat—D. Steinaker, Shrike —T. Davidson, Shrike Nest—A. Kotylak, Shrike—A. Fortney, Ferruginous Hawk—E. Putz, Hawk nest—K. Burrows, two cows—T. Davidson, Plover Habitat and Nest—K. Burrows, Plover Chicks—David Krughoff, Burrowing Owl—J. Ng, Owl chick—Saskatchewan Burrowing Owl Interpretive Centre, Barn Swallow—K. Miyamoto, Swallow chicks—L.T. Flavel, Swallow Habitat—C. Mroz.

Presented by:

